Since joining the St. Joseph Hospital family in December 2010, I’ve had the privilege of meeting many of you – our valued donors. I was inspired by your selfless dedication to our ministry and your passionate support of our founding Sisters. Three months later, my respect for your philanthropic support and engagement continues to grow. It is clear to me that our donor family has played a vital role in growing our ministry into the nationally acclaimed hospital it is today.

As we look toward the future, we know that healthcare reform is coming, regardless of the politics we hear so much about. This means that philanthropy will play an even greater role in sustaining our clinical excellence. I’m pleased to report that by working together, we are well positioned for the future. Our current strategic initiatives are designed to build our capability to succeed regardless of how healthcare reform evolves.

- Perfect Care is striving to provide evidence-based care to every patient, every time. This means supporting process improvement methodology, working with our clinicians on quality initiatives and building an information technology infrastructure to support these efforts. Philanthropic support of our Connecting Care IT initiative is pivotal in helping us achieve Perfect Care.

- Sacred Encounters fosters our commitment to make a difference in the lives of others. Patients with choice will choose St. Joseph Hospital because of the exceptional patient experience. Your support of our Women’s Services initiative will enable us to provide private rooms to our new moms, allowing Sacred Encounters to flourish between mom, baby and the entire family.

- Building a Healthy Community requires that we care for the most vulnerable among us. Illness does not discriminate among have or have-nots and neither do we. Your loyal support of our Care for the Poor program means more families have access to needed medical care and fewer families suffer needlessly.

Despite healthcare reform, I am confident we will succeed. Our donor family is dedicated and engaged; and our employees, volunteers and highly skilled Medical Staff are among the best I’ve worked with. We’re well positioned for the future!

Sincerely,

Steven C. Moreau

St. Joseph Hospital
When Cristina Diaz was about to give birth to her second child she knew immediately that St. Joseph Hospital was the right place for her. “I wanted a Catholic hospital and St. Joseph Hospital had a great reputation,” said Cristina. “Lucky for me my doctor had privileges there.”

Situations where mothers or babies have medical issues, privacy is imperative. That is why we are so excited about the new Women’s Services fundraising effort that will provide 50 private post-partum rooms where families can enjoy the first moments as a family unit that build the bonds between parents and their new precious life.

The rooms will be fashioned after those in the Patient Care Center and will be designed especially for new families, including space for baby and dad, or other supportive family members to stay overnight. Other amenities include private showers, meals on demand, and internet access to allow proud parents to share their news with friends and family around the world.

The private rooms are part of a larger Women’s Services initiative which also includes the debut of the Breast Center, a consolidation of breast care services within The Center for Cancer Prevention and Treatment.

“We are so happy to be part of the St. Joseph Hospital family,” says Robert, a corporate attorney with offices in Irvine. “I think the plans to provide private rooms for new families will enhance an already wonderful experience. As luck would have it we had a private room, for which we are grateful. I couldn’t imagine having it any other way.”

Becoming a certified “baby friendly” hospital is a rigorous and respected achievement and was the deciding factor in choosing to carry on the Diaz family tradition and have our child at St. Joseph Hospital.

“We have always provided excellent care,” says Kathleen Penzes, Executive Director of Women’s Services, “but over the years the expectations of new families have changed. Delivering so many babies each year we simply need more private rooms to provide the environment that promotes new families to bond. In addition, for

Julie Holt promoted to Vice President of Resource Development for St. Joseph Health System

We are pleased to announce that Julie Holt began her position of Vice President of Resource Development for St. Joseph Health System on September 27, 2010. Julie previously served for 15 years as Vice President of the St. Joseph Hospital Foundation.

Since joining St. Joseph Hospital of Orange in 1995, Julie demonstrated a very strong values-based leadership style. During her tenure, Julie led the Foundation team responsible for developing philanthropic support and succeeded in raising over $65 million for the hospital over the past ten years. Under her direction, the Foundation completed five capital campaigns which helped fund the new Emergency Department, Cancer Center, Cardiovascular Intensive Care Unit, and Patient Care Center. Julie was also instrumental in developing a campus-wide culture of philanthropy.

The St. Joseph Hospital Foundation congratulates Julie on this much deserved promotion and wishes her the best as she continues to advance the mission of the Sisters of St. Joseph of Orange in her new role.
HARRY ADLER

“It’s great doing this,” said Adler, who retired after more than 57 years as the owner of several different shoe stores and companies. “Sometimes when I’m walking down the hall with Onyx, a patient’s visitor will come into the hallway and urge me to bring the dog into the room.”

After more than 57 years as a businessman, owning S & A Shoes (1958-74), then Adler Shoes (1975-90), then The Walking Company (1990-95), and finally TWS (The Walking Store) up until 2009, Adler enjoys “giving back to the community.”

“I love St. Joseph Hospital,” he said. “The nurses there are number one on my list. Serving on the St. Joseph Foundation Board is just one way I can help the hospital.”

This year, Adler is serving on the St. Joseph Foundation Board. “It was great to be introduced to St. Joseph Hospital,” she said. “It seems like I’ve been attending events at St. Joseph Hospital forever,” she said. “Because my in-laws were very active donors and supporters, they instilled in us the desire to do whatever we can to help the hospital. The quality of the medical care, the compassion of the doctors and nurses—those are the things that set St. Joseph Hospital apart from others.”

In addition to her work at St. Joseph, Muth also teaches confirmation classes at St. Cecelia Catholic Church and is involved in activities involving her three children. She also volunteers as a basketball coach at local Catholic schools. Previously, she served as a board member and president for Pilgrimage Family Therapy and Opera Pacific.

“One of the things I’m really looking forward to in retirement is having more time to devote to St. Joseph Hospital,” she said.

Prior to her recent retirement, Vivrette became familiar with St. Joseph Hospital because of her business. As a seasoned event planner, she helped on such occasions as the groundbreaking and opening of the Patient Care Center, as well as The Center for Cancer Prevention and Treatment at St. Joseph Hospital.

“It was great to be introduced to St. Joseph Hospital,” she recalled. “I enjoyed all the people I worked with—the folks in marketing, the administrators, the doctors, the Sisters. I originally worked in the medical field so I have great respect for the kinds of work that people perform at St. Joseph Hospital.”

LISA EKMAN

Two years ago Lisa Ekman had minimal contact with the medical community, what she didn’t know was that she had breast cancer. She became a patient within the St. Joseph Health System. “The care was phenomenal at St. Joseph Hospital, The Center for Cancer Prevention and Treatment, and St. Joseph Home Health.” All interventions were handled by skilled professionals and their compassion was exceptional. It was this experience that led Ekman to volunteer her time and talents to the St. Joseph Foundation Board.

“Because the professionals at St. Joseph Hospital gave me back my life, I want to offer my expertise to help in any way I can.” She is currently chairing the Connecting Care fundraising initiative.

In addition to spending time with her family, Ekman is currently responsible for the implementation of electronic medical records in the Home Health, Hospice and Private Duty areas throughout the St. Joseph Health System, ministries in all of California and Texas.

HEIDI MUTH

Volunteering is a family affair for the Muth family—long-time supporters of St. Joseph Hospital. Heidi Muth, recently retired after 37 years of teaching, is looking forward to spending even more time supporting the hospital by serving as a new member of the St. Joseph Hospital Foundation Board.

“I have always loved the hospital and, through our family, been involved with St. Joseph Hospital,” she said. In the past, Muth has been involved in such events as the Todis seasonal soirees, the Circle of Life Fashion Show, and dozens of other events.

JEAN VIVRETTE

Upon her retirement, Vivrette decided she wanted to continue to give back to the community. She became a donor to the St. Joseph Foundation and has lent her talents to a variety of events and programs at the hospital, including the 2010 Celebration Committee that oversees the St. Joseph Gala. This year, she is taking on an even more active role as event co-chair.

“Working on events helps me stay connected to St. Joseph Hospital,” she said. When not working on events at St. Joseph, Vivrette enjoys spending time with her husband, Don, the “most wonderful man in the world,” as well as her two daughters and two granddaughters. She also serves as chair of board development for Casa Teresa, a home that provides support to expectant mothers who are 18 years or older and alone.

Harry Adler is going to the dogs...literally. Once a week, he and Onyx, his black, royal standard poodle, make the rounds at St. Joseph Hospital, providing patients with a chance to pet or play with the 84-pound certified pet therapy dog. “When I ask patients if they’d like to see a poodle, they’re usually expecting something a little smaller,” he laughed.

Harry Adler’s previous dog had recently died and he was looking for another dog to provide the same sort of therapy to hospital patients. “I rescued Onyx from a shelter where he was described as huge and unruly. I thought, ‘That’s the dog for me.’” After training, Onyx is relishing his new responsibilities. And so is Adler.

Over 600 guests enjoyed Celebration 2010 held on October 9, at the Hilton Anaheim and chaired by Connie Bartlett, MD. The event successfully celebrated the mission of our Sisters of St. Joseph Hospital of Orange and the bright future ahead for our hospital and the community.

Thanks to the generous support and efforts of many, the event raised nearly $160,000. Proceeds benefitted “Connecting Care,” St. Joseph Hospital’s effort to expand our electronic health information system by allowing greater access and security for patients and their healthcare team.

The gala included a four-course dinner, opportunity drawing, silent and live auctions, raise the paddle, entertainment and dancing. Please be sure to save the date of Saturday, October 22 for Celebration 2011! You won’t want to miss it!
Light Up A Life 2010

The annual Light Up A Life Tree Lighting Ceremony was held on Sunday, December 5, 2010. Despite the rain, more than 200 guests and friends of the hospital attended this year’s event which featured holiday speakers, refreshments and honorary chair, Geoff Fearns. Speakers reflected on the excellent care and vital role that the St. Joseph Hospice program plays in helping families and patients with life limiting illnesses.

St. Joseph Hospice is an interdisciplinary team of highly trained professionals dedicated to providing quality end-of-life care to patients and families in the community. Hospice nurses provide expert pain and symptom management in an atmosphere of compassion and dignity; chaplains support the spiritual needs and traditions of the patient and family facing end-of-life; home health aides attend to the patient’s personal needs; and volunteers provide support and respite to meet the special needs of families. Additionally, social workers address the unique psychosocial needs of each patient and their family and the medical director oversees the care of all hospice patients.

St. Joseph Hospice is part of the St. Joseph Health System and shares in the mission of the Sisters of St. Joseph of Orange. The core values of Dignity, Service, Excellence, and Justice are the guiding principles for all that they do.

Contributions from Light Up A Life support the compassionate and caring work of St. Joseph Hospice. Since its inception, over $1 million has been raised from this event. Thank you to the volunteers and supporters for their commitment.

CARING NOW | Endowing The Future

“We are pleased and thankful that Care for the Poor committee member and Foundation Board member Pat Podlich and her husband Bill, established the first major gift to the Foundation for our permanent Care for the Poor Endowment,” said Ruth Seigle, chair of the Care for the Poor committee, Foundation Board member and a clinic volunteer. “This incredible gift from the Podlich family will provide a permanent fund for the long-term sustainability of the community clinics.”

The $500,000 gift from Bill and Pat Podlich will support the hospital’s La Amistad de Jose Family Health Center and the Puente a La Salud Mobile Community Clinics in the coming years. “The Care for the Poor committee has struggled with how to allocate available income to best serve the community. There are always more worthwhile requests than there are funds to address the needs—so my husband and I wanted to step in and help,” said Pat Podlich. “We are very involved in the Care for the Poor efforts and we are very passionate about healthcare — so it was a natural decision for us to support it.”

“The future of healthcare is very uncertain, but the permanent endowment gives us a sense of security and will allow physicians and our clinic staff to continue serving the medically underserved,” said Julia Motherway, MD, an internist at the La Amistad de Jose Family Health Center and member of the Care for the Poor committee and Foundation Board member. “The Podlich family saw a great need in the community and their gift means we will continue our efforts for many years to come.”

SPirit of St. Joseph

Each year the St. Joseph Hospital Foundation Board of Directors has the opportunity to recognize a donor or donors who exemplify the true spirit and values of St. Joseph. Those values include being aware of the needs of others and sharing personal resources with those in need. It was with great respect and gratitude that the 2010 Spirit of St. Joseph Award was presented to George and Chloe Barr, and Larry and Laura Ainsworth.

George and Chloe Barr’s support of St. Joseph Hospital spans three decades. As cancer survivors and grateful patients, they have given back to the hospital in countless ways through their personal philanthropy, active involvement on the Foundation Board of Directors and on various committees to help raise funds for the hospital. They have supported every major capital campaign since 1987, most recently for The Center for Cancer Prevention and Treatment at St. Joseph Hospital. Together they were the 2008 Foundation Nominees for Outstanding Volunteers for National Philanthropy Day. These are just some of the highlights of their many years of faithful friendship and support, and like St. Joseph, they have done all with humility and dignity. We are saddened by Chloe’s passing in February 2011 and are truly grateful for the treasured times we spent together.

Larry Ainsworth served as St. Joseph Hospital’s President and Chief Executive Officer for 16 years and always worked to “help our dear neighbor.” In addition to Larry’s hospital leadership, he and Laura took an active role in their support of the Foundation’s fund development efforts. Laura served as a member of the Celebration committee (2002-2008) and together with Larry participated in countless Foundation programs and events. In addition, Larry took a very personal role of leadership in ensuring that over 45,000 children countywide were enrolled in programs that offered them both preventive and clinical healthcare. Larry was an exceptional leader and together with Laura they enriched the lives of our hospital family and the community they served.
